Dear Minister Motshekga

We stand with thousands of parents of children with disability from Afrika Tikkun and the Disabled Children's Action Group, and join in with their voices. We are crying for children with disability to enjoy the right to an inclusive fee-free Basic Education in South Africa.

Although children are entitled to a free basic primary education, schools for children with disabilities still charge school fees. We want this to stop, and for an inclusive education system to make it possible for the hundreds of thousands of out-of-school children with disabilities in South Africa to access their right to a basic education.

We are also saying that Special Schools that provide education also need to ensure that accommodation is reasonable and safe.

Education is not a luxury. It is an immediate right in South Africa!

Hear our cry Minister! It is time to act on behalf of the over 600 000 children with disabilities who have never been to school.
